PART II—Section 2.

Bills and Reports of Select Committees on Bills

PARLIAMENT OF INDIA

The following report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the regulation of certain matters relating to forward contracts, the prohibition of options in goods and for matters connected therewith, was presented to Parliament on the 20th August, 1951:—

We the undersigned members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to provide for the regulation of certain matters relating to forward contracts, the prohibition of options in goods and for matters connected therewith was referred, have considered the Bill and the evidence tendered before us on behalf of certain associations interested in the subject-matter of this Bill, and have now the honour to submit this our report with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

Clause 2.—The period of 11 days specified in sub-clause (i) may seem somewhat excessive, but having regard to the following facts, namely, (a) that this is the maximum period permissible, (b) that the usages of the trade vary in this regard, and (c) that discretion is left to the Central Government to fix the period consistently with such usages, we do not feel called upon to make any change herein. Normally the period should not exceed two or three days, but in exceptional cases Government should have the option to fix a longer period.

Clause 3.—We have redrafted sub-clause (2) so as to make it clear that the Commission can in no case consist of less than two persons. We also think that the period of office of members of the Commission should be specified in the Act itself, while the other terms and conditions of service may be left to be regulated by rules. We have also included the usual provision respecting the qualifications for membership of a Commission of this type.

Clause 4.—In sub-clause (a) we have included a specific reference to the recognition of, and the withdrawal of recognition from, an association as one of the matters in respect of which the Commission is expected to advise the Government.

Clause 6—We do not feel called upon to make any changes in sub-clause (2) (b) as we are confident that in issuing any directions under this provision the Central Government will ensure that in the case of every recognised association dealing with agricultural commodities due provision is made for the representation of agricultural interests on the governing bodies

Clause 8.—We have amended sub-clause (2) (b) so as to provide that in suitable cases independent persons appointed to make the necessary inquiry, as it may not be advisable to leave the inquiry to be conducted by the governing body itself in all cases.

Clause 11.—In sub-clause (2) we have made two small amendments to include default and the fixing of ceiling and floor prices as matters in respect of which bye-laws may be made. We have also recast sub-clause (3) so as to make it clear that a contract becomes void only if certain specified bye-laws are contravened, as is the intention of this provision.

Clause 13.—In our opinion the governing body of an association should not remain suspended for more than six months. We have also omitted the proviso because we think that in all cases the governing body should be given an opportunity of being heard before suspension, and we cannot conceive of any such emergency arising as is likely to require the removal of this salutary restriction.

Clause 15.—A majority of us feel that sub-clause (2) should be revised so as to provide that the rights of innocent third parties are not affected by forward contracts entered into in contravention of the relevant bye-laws of the recognised association. We also think that having regard to the usages of the trade, the consent or authority required under sub-clause (3) which must necessarily be in writing may, in cases where it is not possible to obtain such writing in advance, be allowed to be furnished, say, within three days of the date of the contract.

The other amendments in this clause are clarificatory in nature.

Clause 18.—We have considered the provisions of this clause very carefully and have taken into account the conflicting views expressed as to the necessity or otherwise for this clause. In our opinion the clause as now revised should satisfy all conflicting views on the subject. We have particularly taken into account the suggestion made by Messrs. K. P. Goenka and E. Das Gupta in their minute of dissent appended to the report of the Expert Committee and also by certain Chambers of Commerce in West Bengal to the effect that transferable specific delivery contracts relating to raw jute and jute manufactures should be exempted from Chapters III and IV of the Act. However, as futures trading in raw jute and jute manufactures is at present prohibited under two Bengal Acts, and as there is at present a shortage of these commodities and as there is no early prospect of the Act being applied to them, we have not felt called upon to make any specific exemption in respect of these commodities. In the event of the Act being applied to raw jute and jute manufactures, it would be a simple matter to grant the necessary exemption under clause 26 if the circumstances so require.

Clause 21.—We think that a sentence of two years should suffice.

Clause 25.—The power of delegation contained in this clause is somewhat wide, but it has necessarily to be so. We are, however, certain that in making any such delegation the Central Government will not delegate powers relating to supersession, suspension of business, etc., to persons subordinate to State Governments.

Clause 27.—This clause relating to protection of action taken in good faith has been unnecessarily extended to members, office-bearers and servants of recognised associations, and in our opinion this provision should be deleted.

2. The Bill was published in Part II, Section 2 of the Gazette of India on 30th December, 1950.

3. We think that the Bill has not been so altered as to require circulation under rule 77(4) of the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business in Parliament and we recommend that it be passed as now amended.

MINUTE OF DISSENT

I am signing the report subject to this note of dissent regarding some provisions.

2. In clause 2, the period for ready delivery contract should have been reduced to 7 days as was in the original draft. I am doubtful about the necessity of making it obligatory in clause 3 to have a member in the Commission with experience of forward markets. In clause 4(c) line 2 after the word "goods" I would like "and regions" to be added. The composition of recognised associations has been left to be decided by rules; I hope the Central Government will see that the office bearers as well as the governing bodies are elected in a meeting of the general body. The election of the office bearers by the governing bodies should not be allowed. I would also like that a minimum number of members should be fixed before an association can be recognised.

* Subject to a Minute of Dissent.

3. The most contentious part of the Bill is Chapter IV. The clauses of this Chapter were fully discussed. The two States of Bombay and West Bengal most interested in this Bill and in controlling forward contract markets—gave two opposing views regarding the non-transferable specific delivery contract. Clause 18, has been suitably changed so as to accommodate both the views. I hope the changed form will not disturb the practice now in vogue in those two States.

4. On some other minor points also I think the report should have been slightly changed.

Provided that where the Central Government takes any action under this section on its own motion, it shall do so in consultation with the Commission.

(2) Where, in pursuance of this section, any bye-laws have been made or amended, the bye-laws so made or amended shall be published in the Official Gazette and also in the Official Gazette of the State in which the principal office of the recognised association is situate, and on such publication the bye-laws so made or amended shall have effect as if they had been made or amended by the recognised association.

14. Power to suspend business of recognised associations.—If in the interest of the trade or in the public interest the Central Government consider it expedient so to do, it may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct a recognised association to suspend such of its business for such period not exceeding seven days and subject to such conditions as may be specified in the notification, and may in consultation with the Commission, by like notification extend the said period from time to time.

Provided that where the member has secured the consent or authority of such person otherwise than in writing he shall secure a written confirmation by such person of such consent or authority within three days from the date of such contract.

Provided further that no such * consent or authority of such person shall be necessary for closing out in accordance with the bye-laws any outstanding contract entered into by such member on his own account with such person if the member discloses in the note, memorandum or agreement of sale or purchase in respect of such closing out that he has bought or sold the goods, as the case may be, on his own account.

16. Consequences of notification under section 15.—Where a notification has been issued under section 15, then notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force or in any custom, usage or practice of the trade or the terms of any contract or the bye-laws of any association concerned relating to any contract,—

(b) all differences arising out of any contract so deemed to be closed out shall be payable on the basis of the rate fixed under clause (a), and the seller shall not be bound to give and the buyer shall not be bound to take delivery of the goods.

17. Power to prohibit forward contracts in certain cases.—(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that no person shall, save with the permission of the Central Government, enter into any forward contract for the sale or purchase of any goods or class of goods specified in the notification and to which the provisions of section 15 have not been made applicable, except to the extent and in the manner, if any, as may be specified in the notification.

(2) All forward contracts in contravention of the provisions of sub-section (1) entered into after the date of publication of the notification thereunder shall be illegal.

18. Chapters III and IV to apply to non-transferable specific delivery contracts only in certain cases.—(1) Where a notification under section 15 has been issued in respect of any goods or class of goods, the Central Government shall, by a like notification, define the area in which a recognised association may regulate and control non-transferable specific delivery contracts in respect of such goods or class of goods and the provisions of this Chapter and of Chapter III shall apply to non-transferable specific delivery contracts only in such areas and only in respect of such goods or class of goods.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), if the Central Government is of opinion that in the interests of the trade or in the public interest it is expedient to regulate and control non-transferable specific delivery contracts in any area to which the provisions of this Chapter and of Chapter III do not apply, it may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that all or any of the provisions of the said Chapters shall apply to non-transferable specific delivery contracts in such area and in respect of such goods or class of goods as may be specified in the notification, and may also specify the manner in which and the extent to which all or any of the said provisions shall so apply.

(2) Any option in goods which has been entered into before the date on which this section comes into force and which remains to be performed, whether wholly or in part, after the said date shall to that extent become void.

CHAPTER V

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Although all the major Railways in the country are now under Government management, a few narrow gauge light Railways are still being managed by private companies. Government have statutory control over these Railways in respect of fares and freight rates, and may enforce safety regulations under the Indian Railways Act, 1890; but they have no power to ensure that the day to day administration of the Railways by the companies is in the best interests of the public. Of late Government have been receiving complaints regarding mismanagement by some of these companies thereby causing a great deal of inconvenience to the normal life of the community. It became imperative, therefore, that Government should, in the public interest, take powers to intervene in cases where in the opinion of Government a situation has arisen in the affairs of a Railway company which prejudicially affects the convenience of persons using the Railway or causes serious dislocation in any trade or industry using the Railway or causes serious unemployment among the persons employed on the Railway.

An Ordinance entitled the Railway Companies (Emergency Provisions) Ordinance, 1951, was accordingly promulgated on the 14th July, 1951. The Ordinance was of a general nature and provided for the application thereof to a delinquent Railway company by a notified order. The result of such a notification would be that Government is enabled to appoint a new board of directors for the Railway company in supersession of the existing board of directors and any contract of management between the Railway company and any managing agent would be automatically terminated. The intention underlying these provisions is that the company should be put back into its normal position when it would be possible to restore the management of the company to its old board of directors or to a new board of directors appointed in pursuance of a resolution passed by the shareholders of the company. The Ordinance contains the usual provision for delegation of powers so that in suitable cases power could be delegated to the State Government to administer the affairs of a Railway company within its jurisdiction, the management of which has to be taken over by the Government.

In the case of the Baraset-Basirhat Light Railway Company which owns a narrow-gauge line about 52 miles long in West Bengal, the Government of West Bengal caused an investigation to be made into the affairs of the company by a high-level committee who found considerable evidence of serious mismanagement in the affairs of the company which culminated in a labour strike and consequent suspension of railway service from the 14th April, 1951. The Ordinance was, therefore, made applicable to this Railway company and powers in respect of this company have been delegated to the Government of West Bengal under the Ordinance.

The present Bill seeks to replace the Ordinance and to validate all action taken thereunder.
